

HAUSER CO₂Compound System

Flexible refrigerating machine

The HAUSER CO₂ booster compound system offers customers one of the most flexible systems on the market. It fulfills customer requirements in terms of flexible at-site delivery and the place of installation. The high quality standards were reached with a compact, future-proof system with reduced screw connections. The various sizes are available with medium to high sound proofing for indoor or outdoor installation. The natural refrigerant CO₂ makes this system ready for the future and can be considered an important positive contribution to environmental protection.

- + Flexible installation and at-site delivery thanks to modular design.
- + In-house brand with decades of experience.
- + Sustainability thanks to future-proof refrigerant CO₂.
- + Lowest number of screw connections on the market compared to competitors.
- + Waste-heat recovery for optional heating of the salesroom.
- + Perfectly matched to the HAUSER heating module.
- + Standardised and cost-effective
- + Sound-proofing casing for indoor and outdoor installation.
